

The image shows a blank sheet of music paper with ten systems of five-line staves. Each system consists of four solid lines and a dashed midline, providing a template for musical notation.